

Family Court can determine issues concerning your children only if you want to have Family Court determine the issues of custody, visitation or child support, you would retain me, and I would file a Petition in Family Court on your behalf, specifying the issues you have. The other parent of your children would then receive a copy of the Petition, and you would both appear in Family Court before a Family Court Judge where I would appear and represent you.