

The cost depends on what issues you and your spouse have concerning the children (ie: custody and visitation alone, child support alone) and how contentious the dispute will be.

The fees and costs in representing you in Family Court is something we can discuss once I meet with you and know what could be involved in your case.